Japanese Cabinet Considers Pacific Situation At Conference Today

WASHINGTON SEES DARK PROSPECTS

Little Chance Of Understanding Is Attitude At U. S. Capital

By PERCY WHITTING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Dec. 2.—Premier Hideki Tojo's cabinet discussed the negotiations in Washington between the United States and Japan in an urgent 50-minute meeting today.

The cabinet held the urgent session after an official spokesman had announced that Japanese negotiations with the United States "will be continued."

Meanwhile, Japanese newspapers pictured Japan as engaging "with calm perseverance" in a final effort to induce the American government to reconsider its attitude in the explosive Pacific crisis. Warnings were issued that Nippon's patience is growing thin.

Wait and See

Ichi Kishi, deputy foreign office spokesman, declared: "Although there is still a fairly wide difference in the Japanese and American points of view, the negotiations with America will be continued."

Regarding the prospects for some sort of agreement, he said: "Nobody can continue negotiations." (Continued On Page Nineteen)

In The News a few days ago an article appeared with the statement that witch hazel blooms had been seen recently in one of the state forests of Pennsylvania. About the first of November, Owen Fox and Nick Casillo of Winter avenue, while taking a walk in the country and passing through a small wooded section, saw hundreds of the pretty yellow witch hazel blooms. This is unusually early for these flowers to bloom. Doubtless the beautiful weather we have experienced has forced the blooms to appear so soon. Mr. Fox states that he has found these bushes blooming in February.

British Admit Corridor To Tobruk Is Penetrated By Axis Troops

WILL DELAY RESULT OF BATTLE FEW DAYS

Sidi Rezegh And Bir-El-Hamed Have Fallen To Axis Troops

By W. P. SAPHIRE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Dec. 2.—The towns of Sidi Rezegh and Bir-El-Hamed have fallen to Axis forces and German troops have pierced the corridor connecting besieged Tobruk and British inland forces, it was officially announced today.

German troops have effected a junction at Zaafran, six miles northeast of Sidi Rezegh, it was admitted, and this is obviously a setback for the British.

"But it may only delay matters a few days longer," a spokesman said.

"It does not in any way destroy our confidence in the final results," he added.

British troops were driven out of Sidi Rezegh and Bir-El-Hamed yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2.—Twenty-seven defendants, convicted and sentenced in Pittsburgh as the result of an anti-Communist crusade were refused an appeal to the state supreme court today.

Last October 6, the state superior court affirmed the penalties imposed by the lower court.

Four Hunters Killed Monday

Number Of Others Injured In First Day Of Deer Hunting Season

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

Tragedy overshadowed the day-old deer season today as authorities counted at least four deaths and numerous accidental woundings in field and forest.

Mortally wounded were John Bosak, 43, miller and father of four who was killed in the woods a few miles from his home at Clarence, Centre county; Edward A. Tharp, 52, Waynesburg, R. D. 4; Raymond Shall, 35, Spring Creek, Warren county, and Robert McLaughlin, 36, a school bus driver from near Uniontown.

Shall died from what Coroner Edward Lowry of Warren county described as a wound inflicted accidentally by a 16-year-old school student, Wayne Lillie, Union City, Merrill Frankinberry, Point Marion, was held in $1,000 bail for the fatal shooting of McLaughlin after he told authorities he had mistaken McLaughlin for a deer.

James Boone, 21, of Howard R. D. was in serious condition with a gunshot wound in his hip in a Gun Haven hospital. He was struck by a stray bullet while hunting in Centre county.

In other accidents in the central section of the state, Allen Kephart, 23, Osceola Mills, was wounded in the stomach by a stray bullet while Theodore Eichenbrode, 18, of Fairfield R. Britain To Increase Mobilization

More Sacrifice Urged In Nation

Armed Forces Now Well Equipped And More Man-Power Is Needed

AGE LIMITS FOR SERVICE CHANGED

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 2.—The British government plans to mobilize the nation's man-power and woman-power to increase the war effort, authorities announced today.
Authorities said the government has to call upon the nation for a further degree of sacrifice and exertion and thus plans to mobilize men and women for war-time service.
"The year 1941 has been a major problem in creating war production largely solved or on the high road to solution," an authoritative statement said.
"The crisis in equipment is largely over and an ever-broadening flow is assured."
"A crisis in man-power and woman-power is at hand and will dominate the year 1942."
"Britain must maintain her armies in the east and be prepared for continuance and expansion of heavy fighting there."
"Prepare For Expansion"
"It must provide personnel for the warships coming into service, equipment for large armies being raised and trained in India and must maintain the powerful, mobile army created with so much pain for home defense and foreign expedition."
"Britain has been at a disadvantage in having to fight a well-armed enemy with ill- or half-armed forces."
"That phase is over. In future British soldiers will fight on equal terms in technical equipment, and a little later on superior terms."
"Last year promised blood, tears, toil and sweat. There has not been the blood expected and not so many tears. But here is another installment of toil and sweat. . . . It will be accepted with cheerful, proud alacrity by all classes."
"Changes Made"
It was announced that three important changes will be made relative to manpower. They are:
1. A gradual change from the system of block to individual reservation from combat duty.
2. The age limit for compulsory military service will be raised to 50 with a promise that men over 41 will not proceed to active duty but will relieve younger men at static duties.
3. Lowering of the age limit to 18½ years for military duty.

County where he was successful in shooting an 8-point deer, Monday.

Ralph Pearce, of 502 8th street, shot a 5-point buck yesterday, according to a message received here by Mrs. Pearce. Pearce is hunting with a party of nine New Castle men in the vicinity of Smethport.

Safety will be one of the marked advantages of the buses over the street car service. Buses drawing up to the curb for receiving and discharging passengers will eliminate the ever present danger that impetuous auto drivers "in a hurry," seeking to pass the street car, would injure those entering or alighting.

Just in case you don't remember, a year ago today the temperature started dropping pretty fast and ended up with a five above mark on December 4, along with over an inch of snow. It stayed cool the better part of the week, too.

Charles H. Schweinberg, Wallace avenue, and father, H. L. Schweinberg, of Adams street, returned from a hunting trip at Pleasantville, Pa., where Charles bagged a 175 pound deer, Monday afternoon at 4 p. m.

Donald E. Florida, of 236½ North Walnut street, was successful in bagging a six point buck weighing 125 pounds, at 7:45 o'clock on Monday morning, in President Township, Venango County, just forty-five minutes after he had entered the woods. Florida was a party of three, the others being his brother, Forrest L. Florida of Clemenore Boulevard and Ed Palmer of Pearson street, this city.

John Coulter, of New Castle R. D. 5, shot a deer at 7:20 o'clock Monday morning in the vicinity of Franklin. The deer carried 10-points and weighed 150 pounds.

According to information given Pa. New chicken stealing is becoming prevalent in the Little Beaver districts, a number of thefts having been reported recently.

Another advantage will develop with the inauguration of bus service in this city this month. Trippers that take students to the high school in the morning will not be obliged to make a run all the way to the end of Highland avenue to get turned around. The buses can probably make two trips for students in the same time that one is now made, as the buses will have to travel only to Lincoln avenue.

Bill Sokovitz, of 1046 Beckford street, and Connie Sokovitz, of R. F. D. No. 3, Volant, spent the first day of the deer hunting season at Benneet, Elk county. Bill Sokovitz got a nine-point buck weighing about 135 pounds in the first hour of hunting. They report deer are very scarce in that section.

Wally Bowers of 810 Young street has returned from Rockland in Clarion county, where about 1:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon he killed a fine six-point buck. The deer will dress out at about 110 pounds.

Quite a number of city firemen are hunting deer. Among those on the night hunt this week who went to nearby spots were Assistant Fire Chief George Harper, Earl Patton and Herman Steinbrink, who hunted near Polk, Monday and are out again today. Harry Colley and Jack Scott, volunteer firemen, are hunting at Nebraska, while George Ward and Edwin Jessell are also in the big woods.

An eight-point buck was brought down yesterday in Forest county by Converse Branscome of 424 Edgewood avenue.

two aircraft and was equipped with underwater torpedo tubes in addition to those on deck. The merchant raider was said to be capable of a speed of 18 knots and carried a complement of 400 officers and men.

Authorities also revealed the Steiermark sank nine ships since it began operations.

A communiqué stated the 6,830-ton warship was "sunk in an action with a heavily armed merchant raider which the Sydney sank by gunfire."

According to the announcement an extensive search by air and sea is in progress to locate survivors.

A ministry of information communiqué said:
"According to information received from the Australian navy board, H. M. A. S. Sydney has been in action with a heavily armed merchant raider which was sunk by gunfire."

"The information was obtained from survivors from the enemy ship who were picked up some time after the action."

"No subsequent communication has been received from the Sydney."

"It must be presumed that she has been lost."

"An extensive search by air and surface units to locate the survivors continues."

"Next of kin to whom the government and naval board extend the deepest sympathy were informed November 26."

"For strategic reasons it was not desirable to publish the information earlier than now."

"While regretting the loss of this fine ship and her gallant complement, the people of Australia will be proud that she and they upheld the traditions of the royal Australian navy and completed a glorious career in a successful action against the enemy."

Armed Sloop Lost Also

London, Dec. 2.—Loss of two crack vessels of the Australian navy with a total loss of 786 men was officially announced today.

Most important was the sinking of the Australian cruiser Sydney with her entire complement of 645 officers and men in a battle with an armed merchant raider which also was sunk off the Australian coast.

Soon after an official dispatch from Canberra told of the sinking of the 1,060 ton armed sloop Parramatta which was torpedoed.

All aboard the Parramatta—141 officers and men—are missing and presumed lost.

The Parramatta, a new ship launched in 1939, carried anti-aircraft and 4-inch guns and was especially designed for operations in Australian waters.

Foresee Battle Over Anti-Strike Bill In Congress

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Both branches of Congress prepared today for what leaders predict will be "cat and dog fights" over anti-strike legislation but all factions agreed that a bill will be approved this week affecting virtually every employer and employee in the country.

While the Senate skirmish today remained in the committee stage the House convened for consideration of several different measures representing the views of both those who wish to virtually outlaw strikes during the emergency, and those preferring a milder recourse.

First phase of the battle was to come with calling up of a bill by Rev. Vinson (D. Ga.) ordering compulsory arbitration as a means of blocking defense walkouts.

A labor committee measure authorized by Rep. Ramspeck (D. Ga.) and warmly backed by the Democratic leadership, however, was to be offered as a substitute. This proposal calls for a 60-day "cooling off" period before strikes, gives legal impetus to the defense mediation board and specifically allows government seizure of plants if other methods fail.

Majority leader McCormack who hitherto has been cool to anti-strike legislation, publicly endorsed this plan.

SIX BILLIONS FOR CHRISTMAS

THE United States Department of Commerce occasionally produces a bit of good news. An outstanding example is the report that retail trade during the holidays probably will reach an all-time high of almost $6,000,000,000, which would be about $1,000,000,000 more than went into the store tills for all retail trade last Christmas season.

From a business viewpoint, this Christmas looks the best ever, although thoughtful persons who look beneath the glittering surface as they roam through the stores will notice changes which are an indirect reflection of distant tragedies.

As an example, there are no French laces and the reason lies in the fact that the refinements of life are no longer found in France, which is under the Nazi heel and, goaded by the firing squad, is producing implements of destruction for its conquerors. In many more instances this story is repeated.

On this side of the Atlantic there is a happier situation, notwithstanding the clouds on the horizon. With billions at their disposal, Americans unquestionably possess the material means through which a great deal of pleasure may be derived from the festival. Still, this will be an empty, shallow form of enjoyment if there is no place in the thoughts of the fortunate millions for those who are bearing the adversities of a troubled world.

MOSCOW IN PERIL?

Will Hitler, who thus far has been unable to take Leningrad although his forces have been only a few miles from the city for months, succeed in his all-out drive on Moscow? Even the Russians no longer attempt to hide the fact that their capital is in danger of being taken by the Nazis.

This is December, and all summer and fall the experts said that if Hitler couldn't take Moscow and Leningrad before cold weather set in—the period mentioned usually being November—he faced the fate bestowed upon Napoleon by Russian winter weather.

Were the experts wrong again, or is the present Nazi drive the last desperate act of a dictator against whom the tide is about to turn? The next several days should provide the answer to this question.

The Russians have done well so far, but this is a war of exhaustion and if Russian manpower and supplies have been more seriously depleted than those of Hitler, the land of the Bolsheviks may not be able to hold out until spring, and the experts will be proved wrong again.

'GIVE COURTESY FOR CHRISTMAS'

Reports of the National Safety Council on traffic accidents throughout the country continue gloomy. The latest figures bring the total deaths on the highway for the first ten months of the year to 31,620. This is an increase of 16 per cent over the corresponding period in 1940. With the holiday season and its usual rise in automobile fatalities still to come, 1941 is likely to break all records for traffic killings.

To offset this trend, the Council is organizing a special safety campaign having as its theme "Give Courtesy for Christmas." If drivers would display courtesy to each other under the stress of abnormal road conditions and would observe the common rules of safety, there would, unquestionably, be fewer accidents.

But this is not a matter of politeness, merely, but of human lives saved or destroyed. No one wants the Christmas season blackened by the death of some loved one in a motor crash. Nor, surely, would anyone want to bring tragedy to some household by negligent or reckless driving.

Carefulness behind the wheel, during the holiday season ahead, will mean lives saved—perhaps your own—to enjoy another Christmas next year.

WINNING THE PEACE

In this country, we can give thought to what is coming when the war machines break down. "Winning the peace" is likely to entail more effort and more constructive energy than is expended in winning the war.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of General Motors, purposes preparedness for the use of its great industrial plants which will slow down when war orders cease. Similar plans are in the making by other industrial leaders. What is needed, however, is a general "setting of the heels" to resist the war's depressing backwash.

We can make up our minds that no nation will win the war, for in a conflict such as this the victors also are invariably heavy losers. Defeat of the Nazi political cult will mean no triumph for either of the philosophies espoused by men opposed to Hitler's ambition. What any country gains of what is left when the fighting ceases will not be worth striving for.

"Winning the peace" is an objective worth everything Mr. Sloan and the others can give it. Even now, in the light of America's experience in the previous World War, it is as important to the United States as is the defeat of Hitler to the British.—Illinois State Journal.

PRICE LEGISLATION

Price control legislation, which has been brewing for months, has been acted upon by the House of Representatives and while a plethora of problems remain to be threshed out and many compromises will no doubt be effected, it is possible that Congress will put the finishing touches to legislation in the near future.

There seems to be a growing demand for more stringent government controls over prices, perhaps inspired by fear of vicious spirals that may be in the making now. A referendum of the Chambers of Commerce of the United States, with a large percentage of the members voting, showed 2,140 units favoring price control and only thirty-three opposing it.

Since price control is in reality price fixing, and price fixing has always been anathema to business, such a result would be astounding in normal times. But price fixing now seems more attractive to some people than runaway prices later. Probably Congress can win public support for the price control enactment it finally devises.

The probability is that price control, however it is framed, will remain for a long time. The impelling argument now is to adopt control to prevent inflation. Later the argument will be just as impelling to retain controls to prevent too rapid deflation. The nation may not see individual freedom in price policies for a long time.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DEVELOPING INITIATIVE IN A CHILD

Parents should not destroy a child's creations because he should be encouraged to go on making things and by praising his efforts his father and mother will win his companionship, admiration and love.

The tot builds a house, garage, bridge, barn or church. He has worked at it for hours and may wish to change parts or add new ones from time to time over a period of several days. Suppose he has built it in your living room. Very well, leave it there. Sweep and dust around it. Should guests arrive, let them learn you are quite as good parent as housekeeper. To knock down the child's temples he has erected to the god of his creation would, it seems to me, be about as blasphemous as to throw a rock, deliberately, through a beautiful church window.

Save Child's Creations

When he crawls, colors, or paints some thing he considers very precious, do not crumple it and throw it into the wastebasket. Keep it for him in a bag, magazine or box or drawer. On some of these you might wish to place the date so he and you might enjoy them together years later, and see how he has grown in skill. If he wishes you to take down a story of his, do so gladly. You even might suggest occasionally that he make up a story for you to write down. You can see how this would stimulate him to create more stories and make him feel you understand and appreciate his efforts.

Appreciate Early Efforts

When he cuts and pastes a thing from paper and cardboard, learn to appreciate it however crude it be. Put it where others of the family can see it, even show it to some appreciative guests. In a lovely family, some while ago, the mother showed Mrs. Myers and me a special birthday card the ten-year-old daughter had made for her grandfather. It was well done and I am sure the effect on the child from showing it to us was very good. To show off such things the child has made is usually wholesome, since it puts value on the young creator's efforts, and makes him want to work harder.

Q What do you think of punishing a child of 16 or any other age by refusing to talk to her for a day or so?

A I would count it brutal and childish behavior for an adult.

The World and the Mud Puddles

How many employers are there today who have the "guts" to run their business open shop? There are not many. The labor racketeers have taken over the government of this nation, body, soul and britches.

To intelligent workmen, open shop should not mean low wages, long hours and miserable shop conditions. It should mean freedom. It should express their ambition to make themselves worthwhile workers in the business of their employer. It should mean more. It should free them from the necessity of serving a racketeering union leader as a picket, than which I would think there is no more disagreeable duty. It should mean steady work, not unemployment, together or not. A boss should decide that he needed a little more money and call a strike.

Thirty years ago in San Diego, Calif., a coterie of men employing labor, mutually agreed that they would, come rain, come shine, operate their respective businesses open shop. Among them was the present leading building contractor, two great retail merchants, a fish canner, a banker, about 30 men in all who were and who still are, with one exception, living and employing many workmen. They called the little organization "The American Plan."

Today, the only member of that organization operating open shop is the paint contractor, a San Diego man. He told me recently that as long as he could climb a ladder and was able to wield a paint brush, he would continue to operate his business open shop. He would pay the top wages at all times, including over-time and work on holidays, but he reserved the right, still, to hire any man he believed to be a good workman. He has on his payroll men that have been in his employ for more than 20 years and who still stick to him, notwithstanding they are called upon to work upon picketed jobs.

One of the original members of "The American Plan" organization has now a great store, occupying most of a city block in San Diego, with four floors and a basement and a very successful business. This paint contractor was given the contract for painting the interior of the store, but before he began work, the proprietor of the store (one of the original members of the organization, remember) said: "John, have you signed up with the union yet?" "No," said John. "I have not." "Well, if that is the case, we can't let you do the painting job." "All right," said John, "get somebody else. I still run my business open shop."

John is a Rotarian and at a recent Rotarian luncheon another one of these original members of "The American Plan" organization slapped him on the back and said: "John, I take off my hat to you."

"But would you employ me today as a painter?" said John. "No, I could not. My agreement with the union would prevent me."

This same condition confronts all American business and in the light of such a condition, does anyone doubt but what the union leader racketeers constitute the government of the United States?

FOR UNCLE HAP WORTLE THE MELANCHOLY DAYS ARE HERE

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:36. Sun rises tomorrow 7:04.

We once knew a man who was highly pleased when he was given a long-handled shovel for a Christmas gift. He was a Dutchman.

These days a gal sticks her hat over her left eye or right eye and then says to her husband, "Dearie, is my hat on straight?"

When a woman is searching the beauty salons for something that will make her look better, the men are searching the saloons for something that will make them feel better.

Do you know what happens when the men leave the farms to work in the cities? Well, the women then have to do the work and thousands of women are doing farm work now, even while thousands of men are loafing in the cities.

"I wish I had the money the boss has and that he was in the poorhouse," grumbled a clerk in a local establishment. The boss heard about it and sent for the clerk.

"If you had your wish and I was in the poorhouse, what would you do?" the employer asked, curiously.

"I'd take steps immediately to get you out," the quick-thinking clerk responded.

He got a raise.

Watch the fellow who says he just dropped in to browse around—he may be a sneak thief or a detective.

A lot of folks forgive those who trespass against them Sunday morning and Monday morning start out to get even with those guys.

Sometimes, about all some people give is information, and then it may be very good.

The young English girl, sent over to this country as a refugee, got a job helping out in a music store.

"I want an E string," a customer said one day.

"Would you mind picking it out yourself, sir?" asked the girl. "I hardly know the difference between the E's and the S's."

"How much is it?" asked a guard.

"Life," said the prisoner.

"In that case," the guard observed happily, "you'll just have to do what you can of it."

A roker is a person who thinks waiters will believe him a big shot if he uses the table cloth as a scratch pad.

One can't depend too much on popularity. Look what it finally did to Tom Thumb golf.

Then they tell the story about the prominent citizen who left this life suddenly and got a big funeral.

"Your husband must have been a finem an," said one of those at the funeral. "Almost everyone in town is here to pay their respects."

HE PASSED IT UP

This confession amused us, so we're passing it along. The women are advised to skip it, but we think that some of the men will give it an understanding smile.

"A number of years ago I passed up a better job," said a friend the other day. The chief had suggested to my boss that I be moved into the main office. At first I was to get the same salary but I was led to believe that I might soon expect a raise.

"Do you know why I turned it down?" I told myself that I might fail to measure up to the new responsibilities. I said that my salary probably would be raised anyhow if I stayed where I was. But the real reason for declining the opportunity—a reason that I wouldn't admit even to myself at the time—was that in the office I'd have to keep my coat on after working for twenty years in my shirt sleeves. I didn't think I could stand it."

A rookie big league baseball player was describing his new wife to the owner of the club.

"I could have married a better-looking," he confessed, "but she refused to let me chew tobacco."

In Oklahoma, the church people picked a football game played on Sunday. That picketing story is all right some times.

When the papers came in only Baxter's was blank.

"Didn't I tell you to write what you'd do if you had a million?" the teacher asked. "Nearly everyone has turned in at least one sheet and you have written nothing."

"That's what I'd do if I had a million," the boy answered.

Turkish Rebuff Pleases State Department
Reject Partnership Plan Made By Germany
Would Be Valuable Ally To Either Lineup

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Turkey's reported rejection of a German bid for a kind of journalistic partnership between the two countries is the subject of a deal of congratulatory comment at the state department, since it is taken as implying a decided coolness on the Turks' part toward the overtures the Nazis are known to have been making in the formers' direction.

Turkey, of course, is geographically so situated as to be of tremendous importance to the rival strategies of the Axis and the Anglo-Russian alliance in their campaign at the eastern end of the Mediterranean. And, aside from its geography, its troops would be well worth having, by one side or the other, for they're recognized as exceptionally formidable scrappers—not very well equipped, but as pugnacious as wildcats. Besides, as to equipment, leave-endeing to em would be a first-rate idea if they should finally join the Anglo-Russians militarily.

It's known definitely that Berlin recently sent a German newspapermen's delegation to Ankara, the Turkish capital, to frame up if possible, a bargain by which the Turkish press would plug for help to the Nazis and the German press would boost for all sorts of post-war concessions to Turkey in the event of an Axis victory.

The Turks turned the proposition down, according to accounts from Istanbul, which isn't now the capital, but which used to be as Constantinople in the days before Sultan Abdul Hamid's rule was overthrown and the existing republic was established, with Ismet Inonu currently, as president.

Turkey seems to have emerged from its revolution, about 18 years ago, as a pretty good democracy.

Decency In Anarchy

Abolishing Abdul, as sultan, took quite a while, and I was in the country myself, on a news assignment, while the rumpus was in progress. There virtually wasn't any government and lots of fighting was going on, but if you were a non-belligerent and didn't happen to get, accidentally, into anybody's line of fire, nobody harmed you. Plundering and miscellaneous lawlessness were strictly discouraged.

It struck me as peculiar that so much decency should prevail in the midst of such anarchy. Louis Einstein, long an American career diplomat, was our charge d'affaires there at the time, and I asked him how he accounted for it.

"It's because," he said, "the Turks are essentially so decent a people."

To that I've found, all folk who have lived among 'em testify.

But don't imagine that they're afraid of anything. They're a Moslem.

The Great Game Of Politics

Tough Job For A Poet

A WEEK or so ago the labor division of the OPM issued a press release asserting that from June 1, 1940, to October 1, 1941, sixteen months there were 2,349,000 man days lost to defense work by strikes. But figures of the War and Navy Departments show that from January 1 to October 1, 1941 (nine months), there were 6,100,000 man days lost. In the last two months this figure has risen above 7,000,000.

CONCEDING, as many have pointed out, that in these emergency delays are not only costly but may be fatal, even the lowest of these claims is shocking. However, the shock could be stood if one just could get at the truth. The distressing thing is the vast discrepancy (nearly 4,000,000) between these Government figures. As well as anything else this sort of thing—and it is a very common sort of thing—justifies the recent creation by the President of the Office of Facts and Figures. In the Executive order it was stated that the duty of this new agency is to facilitate the dissemination of accurate facts and figures. While that is what all these information agencies are supposed to do, it is what very few of them actually do—except accidentally.

IF THE OFFICE which is not to issue information itself, but to work with the existing agencies can put an end to the loose, misleading and inaccurate "information" which is now being governmentally disseminated it will serve well both the country and the cause. If it can stop the

Democrats Start Battle Against Anti-Strike Bills

House Is Nearing Vote On Controversial Measure It Is Indicated

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Declaring that President Roosevelt will veto any anti-strike legislation that is "too drastic," a bloc of liberal northern democrats today launched an eleventh hour fight against a batch of far-reaching labor bills.

The move came as the lower chamber rapidly reaching a showdown on the controversial matter was called into session an hour earlier than usual, with leaders pressing for a final vote by tomorrow night.

Particularly assailing proposals "to force men to work against their will," Rep. Coffee (D. Wash.), announced that the chief executive would not approve legislation "that goes too far."

Rep. Healey (D. Mass.), at the same time, gave notice that he and his colleagues will oppose all anti-strike proposals as "removing a fundamental right to strike and the first step toward totalitarianism in free America.

Even members of this bloc conceded privately however that they see small chance of stemming the ever growing tide in favor of an anti-strike measure with teeth in it.

Several such proposals are before both the house and the senate, with the upper chamber slated to start action on the floor next week, after the house decides which bill it will pass on.

Most members predicted passage in some form of the plan approved by the house labor committee which calls for a 60-day "cooling off" period before strikes, during which the mediation board would attempt to settle by peaceful means.

FRANKLIN RESERVES

The Franklin Girl Reserves met in the school Monday, December 1 at 2:45. At the beginning of the meeting the girls had a penny march to raise money for their share of the new G. R. banner. Instead of a plain march they congeed and as they passed a patriotically covered box, they each dropped in a penny.

Shirley San Filippo, a representative of the club on the planning committee for the Christmas party for around 125 children gave a report, the Interclub Council representatives, Kathryn Edginton and Harriette Brinton, were reminded of the monthly meeting on Saturday at the "Y" and for a short time there was discussion about the favors that all junior clubs will make for the Christmas trays.

The main feature on the program was a talk by a member of the Girl Reserve committee, who told the girls about the origin of the Y. W. C. A. with a prayer group in England in the middle of the past century, and how the Y. W. C. A. in this country, in its infancy, sponsored classes in typewriting for young women at a time when the general public thought this was highly improper as well as too much physical work. The point was stressed that all Girl Reserves are younger members of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The meeting next Tuesday will be in charge of the 7th grade members of the club.

If a politician with ten followers says eighty per cent of the people are with him, and says it often enough, he becomes a power.

Envisions China As A Major Power When War Is Over

Predicts Post-War World Will Be Ruled By U. S., Britain, Russia And China

(International News Service) HONG KONG.—Predicting the triumph of democracy over Hitlerism, Mr. Sun Fo, president of the legislative yuan, said in a recent speech here that the post-war world would consist of four great powers, namely China, the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia.

Sun Fo declared that China's resistance to Japanese aggression was now recognized by the democracies as fulfilling her share in the world struggle, although over four years ago at the very outbreak of hostilities such a stand was maintained by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as the leader of the nation.

"American, British and Soviet interest is identical with that of China," Sun Fo stressed, "although there is no formal agreement among them. We are mutually co-operating to fight the Axis, and I am sure China will not be let down."

The absence of a treaty of alliance between China and the democracies does not mean that Chinese Diplomacy has been inactive, explained the head of the legislative yuan. He said when the proper time comes China will enter into an alliance just as Britain initiated a military agreement of alliance with Soviet Russia after the Nazi invasion of the U. S. S. R.

"The Sino-Japanese war may end in six months or after the European war," forecast the speaker. "The United States and Great Britain may arrange a peace agreement with the approval of China by keeping the Japanese armed forces, especially the navy, in check."

(International News Service) HOLLYWOOD.—Although Martha Raye is really domestic at heart, for the sake of her lucrative career she must be the life of the party at all times. "What I've wanted to do more than once at Hollywood parties is to crawl off unnoticed," she lamented the screen star. "But I've got to live up to my reputation and be loud and lusty."

Wood Has Replaced Aluminum In New Type Airplanes

Use Of Moulded Wood May Ease Bottleneck Caused By Lack Of Aluminum

(International News Service) NEW YORK.—Successful tests of two different new types of planes constructed of wood and being tried out in New York and California promise to relieve the serious bottleneck caused by the aluminum shortage.

Wooden strips impregnated with synthetic resins and moulded together under high pressure are used to form the wings and fuselage. The two ships, designed independently of each other but completed about the same time, are the creations of Eugene Vidal, former West Point football star and later head of the old bureau of air commerce, and Martin Jensen, noted flier.

Success of current experiments with planes constructed of moulded wood has resulted in optimistic expressions from both Major General H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces, and Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war, who are hopeful of greatly speeding up aircraft production through employment of America's virtually inexhaustible forest resources. Their official nod of approval has been given tangible support by a federal appropriation of $1,000,000 to enable the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis., to continue research along this line.

Advantages Over Metal Already this scientific investigation has proven that moulded plastic wood surpasses metal in strength and resistance to fire. Furthermore, it appears possible to mould it in larger sections than has ever been possible with metal. This factor, coupled with the fact that it would enable a great number of factories now engaged in non-defense activities to be integrated with the work of arming America, would doubtless speed up production.

Most important, however, in the eyes of military authorities would be the relieving effects on aluminum scarcity by substitution of a natural resource so plentiful that it covers more acres than are now devoted to farm crops, pastured lands, and is being replenished by natural growth approximately as fast as it is used.

WARNS RATIONING MAY BE REQUIRED ON SOME ITEMS

(International News Service) BERKELEY, Cal.—As America becomes increasingly involved in national defense production, rationing of some items may become necessary, Dr. R. A. Gordon, University of California professor of economics, asserted recently.

"Within the last month, since the defense organization was reorganized, there is some reason for believing that our priority system will be more effectively administered," he said.

"So far, where shortages of industrial materials have led to a shortage of consumers' goods, as in certain durable consumers' items and in silk articles, we have relied on informal rationing by private sellers. As shortages become more acute and are felt in more consumers' lines, we may be forced to ration some items on a more formal basis."

Americans used to believe in majority rule; now the minority feels wronged unless it can work some trick to have its way.

New Belt-Conveyor System Will Speed Bomber Production

Conveyor Belt Which Is Being Used In Baltimore Plant Cuts Man Hours In Half

By ROBERT W. KIRBY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Bombers—heavy patrol flying boats for the navy, and medium bombers for the army and Great Britain—will be rolling off assembly lines much speedier these days as the result of a new belt-conveyor system which has been set up in the Glenn L. Martin airplane plant at Baltimore, Md.

The new conveyor belt has cut man hours in half and the work that one or two men customarily did on the sub-assembly line has been broken up among a number of men, each of whom operates one machine or performs one type of hand operation.

Two or more assembly men at the head of the belt pace the line. Before them are jigs into which pre-formed or pre-shaped pieces are fitted together and the first drilling operations performed. Varicolored patterns tell instantly the size of the drill to be used. The pieces are then laid on the conveyor belt and a drilling pressman picks them up and drills the various holes. Further along, riveting machine operators fit certain pieces together and rivet them. Another worker burrs the rivets, while still farther along, men fit other parts of the sub-assembly together. Finally, at the foot of the line, the completed piece is picked off the conveyor belt, stamped, and turned over to the inspector who gives it his O. K.

GASOLINE MILEAGE

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO.—One of the greatest causes of low gasoline mileage other than high speed, is trapping on the accelerator in an effort to make a fast get-away, according to Louis P. Stiner, manager of the Emergency Road Service of the California State Automobile Association. This procedure simply pumps more fuel into the motor than can be effectively used. The correct way is to accelerate slowly. The car will move just as fast and less fuel will be used. Moreover tires will last longer.

Gibraltar Now Stronger Than Ever In History

British Have Enlarged Famed Fortress By Re-claiming Land From Sea

MORE TUNNELS HONEYCOMB ROCK

By MERRILL MUELLER (International News Service War Correspondent)

ROYAL NAVY HEADQUARTERS, Western Approach, Dec. 2.—"Gibraltar today is not only stronger than it ever was, but is bigger than it ever was. And it is not, as has been reported, made into an island by seaplanes from the mainland."

The speaker was a tanned, leather-skinned destroyer captain just back from the famous "Rock" of defense at the mouth of the Mediterranean. I was fortunate in finding him at fleet headquarters. Royal Naval trip on convoy escort duty to Gibraltar—during which "to serve regular tricks on the bridge—was cancelled on the day the friendly men in blue of the Navy saw to it I had the latest and best information on Gibraltar that I could not secure first-hand.

"Yes," my husky informant said staring at the huge world map or the wall with its convoy position and danger areas," we've actually enlarged the old Rock—reclaimed some of it from the sea, we have it's quite a feat of activity. I must say you'd never know the old place from the inside out!" (Admiralty forbids use of his name.)

Saw a Good Deal

"Of course, we blokes don't have much to do with her insides. Or her outsiders, for that matter, excepting the harbor. We just worry about the Atlantic approaches and Duce's Mare Nostrum. But I've seen a good deal of her, in and out after each spell at sea.

"Along the outer rims of the northern side, and around the harbor, they've reclaimed much from the sea and actually increased Gibraltar's area. It was quickly employed into the defense scheme.

"Of course, in the harbor there's always many ships of many trades—and the fleet units of all descriptions. And you're always hearing planes buzzing about, night or day, as the Rock's air units keep it trim, or go about their convoy and scouting business east, west, north and south. We use a lot of American Catalina flying boats there.

A Real Transformation

"But it's inside the Rock that the real transformation has taken place. They did dig a small canal near the Spanish border but it was for another purpose and did not cut off from Spain. It makes a grand swimming pool for the boys who are digging—I should say drilling and blasting—the new fortress of Gibraltar.

"Canadians, Englishmen and men from the Empire stations, working eight hours a day in crews that cover the entire twenty-four hours have honeycombed the Rock with an amazing net work of tunnels.

"Everything necessary for thousands of men to fight and live to prolonged periods has been somehow constructed within huge caverns linked by the tunnels. Mind you, it took a good deal of blasting and drilling and plenty of hard work but the new and reinforced fortress is ready for anything the Axis can throw against her.

An Underground City

"Hospitals and fully-equipped operating theaters; three-story barracks buildings with electric fireplaces; underground power stations; washrooms complete with the latest in chromium fittings; oil and water storage basins; food, tobacco and sweet warehouses are all now inside the Rock hundreds of feet below the summit and far beyond reach of any bomb or shell. It's a regular underground city.

"But it is not a city of static defense; offensive exercises are constantly practiced with Gibraltar's own tank and armored forces supported by aircraft and mechanized infantry.

"A new and enlarged fortress—virtually without civilians within it."

NOTE TO PARENTS: TRY THESE IDEAS ON YOUR KIDDIES

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 2.—Attention parents!

Teaching little Johnny or Mary to go to bed, pick up their toys or play with other children, is a cinch—if you know how.

That is the opinion of Miss Ren. Wilson, psychology instructor at Newcomb College and director of its nursery.

Without being told, the 45 children in the nursery, who range in age from two to five years, soon learn to begin an activity after they finish another, Miss Wilson declared.

Used for observation by psychology students, the juvenile home was taken over by the college last year.

Principal cause for failure of children to learn is that parents do too much for them, Miss Wilson asserted. "The child learns much faster if he has to do some things for himself."

Nervous Tension Contributes To Mental Unbalance

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2.—The nervous tension and tempo of modern life contribute more to the growth of mental unbalance than the tragedy of war, in the opinion of Dr. Samuel Cohen, of Philadelphia.

"The general stress and strain, lack of security and the uncertainty of our life today is apt to cause moments of anxiety and emotional upsets in human lives," said Dr. Cohen, assistant head of Philadelphia Psychiatric Hospital.

War, on the other hand, can be considered an aid rather than a handicap, to the curable psychiatrist because it "makes people project themselves out of their own difficulties," asserted the psychiatrist.

Japanese Seek To Leave Manila

Acute Attack Of "War Jitters" Reported In Philippine Islands

STEAMSHIP OFFICES ARE BADLY CROWDED

(International News Service)
MANILA, Dec. 2.—As an acute attack of "war jitters" hit the Philippine Islands today, Japanese residents crowded steamship offices in Manila seeking passage to Japan.

Approximately 500 Japanese were due to leave next week aboard the French steamer Conte De Lisle.

In view of the extremely tense situation in the far eastern Pacific, national air raid warnings in the Philippines have been out on a 24-hour daily alert schedule, and army headquarters revealed that the entire archipelago has been divided into three corps areas—North Luzon, South Luzon and Mindanao.

Luzon is the largest northern island in the Philippine Archipelago and most densely populated. The capital, Manila, is situated in the southeast sector of this island.

At the southern tip of the archipelago lies the island of Mindanao, second largest in the group.

Every dispatch from Washington and Tokyo was read avidly by residents of the commonwealth who anxiously awaited the final decision in the American-Japanese peace talks.

Further word of a two day old Shanghai report also was awaited. This report stated that Japanese transports carrying 3,000 troops were moving south—apparently to bolster Japanese forces already in Indo-China if a move on Thailand is ordered.

President Manuel Quezon replied to recent criticism of his defense activities with the assertion that his "absolute loyalty" to the United States could not be questioned.

Nearly 2000 Men Will Be Released From 28th Division

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 2.—Pennsylvania's 28th Division is now scheduled to leave North Carolina for its home camp at Indiantown Gap on December 9, it was learned today.

The return will be made by truck and the former national guard units are slated to arrive at the U. S. military post near Harrisburg on December 11.

The division, composed of approximately 17,000 men, has been away for several months engaging in war games with some 300,000 other troops. The men will return hardened by many days and nights of intensive maneuvers under simulated war-time conditions.

Release papers have been prepared for 1,799 men who were 28 prior to July 1, according to Lieut. Col. Henry A. Renninger, Allentown, adjutant general of the division. They will be relieved from duty as soon as the division reaches Indiantown Gap.

Joneses Lagging Behind Smiths

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 2.—That old bromide about "Keeping Up With the Joneses" has been pushed into a back seat at Ohio State university this year.

Latest issue of the university directory shows that the Joneses aren't keeping up with the Smiths, there being only 92 Joneses and 148 Smiths.

Eleanor J. Ash holds No. 1 position in the book, while Jerold Zwelling brings up the rear.

American Music Featured In State School Contests

(Central Press Columnist)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 2.—Pennsylvania high school bands, orchestras, choruses, ensembles, and soloists, both instrumental and vocal, will play or sing music by American composers in the county, district, and state contests of the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League during the spring of 1942, according to C. Stanton Belfour, executive secretary of the league at the University of Pittsburgh.

While American music is used each season on the required list of contest numbers, there will be no Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, or Tchaikovsky contest music in 1942. The league is making a real effort to give the compositions of American composers a hearing. A number of the composers represented include Pennsylvania musicians.

The program of the league includes 51 music events which begin in more than 60 counties of Pennsylvania in late March, progress in eight district meets in early April, and culminate in the fifteenth annual state finals at Bloomsburg on April 24 and 25, 1942.

Previous state contests have been held at Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Altoona, Sunbury, Oil City, Johnstown, Pottsville, Grove City, Norristown and New Castle. The league is sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh through its extension division for Pennsylvania high schools.

Private Durton Achieves Fame

First Cook Of Service Battalion Gets "Reputation" For His Fine Cookies

By JOHN BALL
(Special News Correspondent)
CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Nov. 28.—Private First Class Stanley Durton, first cook of the former local guard unit, 2nd Battalion Service Battery of the giant 155 millimeter long rifle field gun regiment—the One Hundred Ninetieth Field Artillery of Pennsylvania, has allowed fame to upset his temperance (and perhaps his cooking). Recently his act of baking cookies caused his picture to appear in the camp paper "Reveille"—thus his success was assured.

The Associated Press picked up the scene of Durton having his wares tasted by the regimental commander, Colonel Samuel B. Wolfe, aided and abetted by Major Stanley V. Wilcox, chaplain and Major Frank S. Buchanan, Adjutant. The unusual photograph showing the soldier reversing the usual order and "sending cookies home" made the national dailies.

Private Durton now in his spare time is studying French contemplating, offering messhall menus in Francois to the "chow line". He now calls hash, "bovine ala petre ject."

Sergeant Frank Heichel, in charge of the Service Battery's mess hall was also featured in the picture.

WHAT ABOUT DEFENSE IN 1942-3-4...?

This defense job isn't going to be licked overnight.

There's work ahead. Heavy work and a big job to do.

Power is there! We are already "at work" on the power that will be produced in 1942 and '43 and '44.

In the roar and rush of industry to get defense production under way NOW—we met the call to duty with power NOW. We are ready and in action. We are ready because we built ahead. We built a new power plant—and it's among the nation's most advanced designs—putting 50,000 additional horsepower on the job!

PENNSYLVANIA POWER COMPANY

... A Part of the Engineering Forces Working For You

AROUND CITY HALL

In the tentative draft of the 1942 budget under discussion today there is no item billed as "increased wages." Not one councilman has stated his position up to today relative to petitions from city workers in regard to a proposed salary boost. When the restoration of money deducted years ago was granted in July, it cost $22,000. The workers now ask for a raise "in view of the increased cost of living."

Included in the capital outlay is $25,000 for repairs at the sewage disposal plant. For a year or more the state health department has demanded the city make certain changes at the plant. The cost would be $106,000 so council has deemed it advisable to spread the repairs over a four years term, at an expenditure of $25,000, annually.

The Townsmen are in favor of the recreation board receiving $5,750, for the operation of playgrounds next year. Under the board's plan several full time instructors will be kept on the payroll. In the tentative budget J. D. Alexander, director of parks, asked for $5,000. Council has not made any definite decision concerning the request.

State of Pennsylvania has sent this year to the city $38,000, due from the liquor license fees. The $38,000, covered the years 1939 and 1940. This fund has come in "handy." It is supposed to be for the city's co-operation in things affected by liquor.

City Finance Director James L. Fink won't be pinned down, but he does expect the parking meters to turn in $22,000 this year and would not be surprised if the amount in 1942, reaches $25,000. This money goes into general revenue, which is the "pay office" for the city's general expenses.

The city estimates that it will need $10,000 for city-WPA projects next year and $5,000 for the city's share of federal projects. Not one councilman wants to eliminate all WPA work. There are yet some projects council has in mind and there must be a way to finance them.

It will cost about $13,500 to repaint and repair the city's share of the Mahoning avenue viaduct. However, this doesn't necessarily imply council will appropriate any such sum, despite the fact that City Engineer Glenn R. Throop has urged council "to do something about it." The county and city, plus the railroads, must bear the cost. The city's share would be about $8,000, with a probable "kick back" of $1,000, from the Erie Railroad, Throop said.

City of New Castle solicitor's office has certainly been a money-collecting agency during 1941, and the year has yet almost a month to go. Collections by that department have reached the $87,000 mark. Last year the city figured on collecting $79,000 and collected $70,000. The difference between $70,000 and $87,000 is quite a jump upward. The delinquent tax annually grows less, it was pointed out by Finance Director J. L. Fink.

With a raise of one mill in tax for general revenue, or 9%, the city is shy $21,000 of the necessary $638,499.70, which city fathers claim is needed to run the city as it should be in 1942. Efforts were being made today to discover if any of the $21,000 can be pared.

In the town of Bloomfield, Neb., everything is sold on a strictly cash basis.

Egg Production Shows Big Increase In State

HARRISBURG, Dec. 2.—Working overtime for defense, Pennsylvania hens in October produced 125,000,000 eggs for an increase of 7,000,000 eggs over the corresponding month a year ago.

The increase is noteworthy, according to the Department of Agriculture, since the number of layers in flocks on Pennsylvania farms was lower in October than the same month of 1940. The total of 125,000,000 this year compared with 13,758,000 a year ago, Secretary of Agriculture John H. Light disclosed.

"Throughout the country egg production during October totaled 6,600,000 cases, a record production for the month," Light said. "About half of the increase is attributed to an increase in the number of layers and the other half to an increase in the rate of lay. Production during the 10 months of this year also was the largest on record. The rate of egg production per layer during the month reached a record high of 8.2 eggs, and the aggregate production of 127.6 eggs per layer in the past 10 months was the largest on record, exceeding the layings of last year by five per cent, and the previous 10-year average by nine per cent. The daily rate of lay on November 1 as shown by sample farm flocks was a record for that date, being two per cent higher than the previous record high of last year, and 28 per cent above the previous 10-year average."

Canned Apple Products.
Production of canned apple products is making a tremendous advance this year in Pennsylvania, according to Light, including applesauce, apple juice, apple butter, vinegar, canned apples and canned segments.

The season is not yet ended for the manufacture of these products, but reports show that purchases of apples by Pennsylvania manufacturers exceed greatly any previous year on record. Purchases were of such great quantities in Adams and Franklin counties that apples left for sale as fresh fruit are probably the lightest in quantity during the past 10 years.

Excellent Quality Apples.
The cold storage warehouses in that district which ordinarily at this season are filled to capacity with packaged apples for sale as fresh fruit during the winter months, were largely filled with bulk apples to be used by processors throughout the winter. Canners usually complete packing fruit about January 1, but this year manufacture of apple products will probably continue until spring to complete the processing of the heavy purchases.

The excellent quality of Pennsylvania apples, and the fact that they are particularly adapted for canning and processing purposes caused this state to take a leading position in the production of these products. Light said.

Interest in bramble plant growing decreased in Pennsylvania during the past year, due probably to the increased income farmers received for other farm crops. While growers of certified plants disposed of most of their stock last spring and received fair prices, there were only 108 plantings entered for certification during this year, compared with 140 plantings inspected in 1940. There were 83 plantings certified and 25 rejected this year.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 2.—The Veterans of Foreign Wars are urging Gov. Arthur H. James to launch negotiations with the Federal Government in an effort to obtain funds for the construction of the extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to Philadelphia.

John W. Rankin, Commander of the Pennsylvania department pointed out that President Roosevelt has signed a measure making more than $200,000,000 available to defense road construction.
Rankin said that Jesse Jones, Chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, stated that the organization was never approached for funds to finance the eastward extension of the super-highway the Veterans' Commander added that his organization never received a letter sent to the Governor January 3 urging the extension.
"From this inaction during this critical period in our national defense," Rankin declared, "it would appear that this essential project has been and continues to be neglected—if not killed—despite the wishes of the legislature and your own approval of the proposed road."

"The continued treatment, a though it were an undesirable undertaking," he added, "does not in spite confidence in the willingness of authorities to meet their responsibilities under the broad national defense plans."

Construction of the Philadelphia extension, Rankin said, would directly link the steel and machinery producing areas in the west with the shipbuilding centers in and around Philadelphia in addition to industrial plants along the eastern seaboard that are dependent upon defense parts produced in the west.

NOT FOR DIM-WITS

This newspaper is not printed for a bunch of sheep to read. Like all American newspapers, it is published for people like yourself who are smart enough to vote, to govern themselves, to manage their own personal affairs.

In this newspaper you will find a great many FACTS. You will like some facts, dislike others.

Also you will find many conflicting OPINIONS printed here. Hitler's opinions—and Roosevelt's. Pro-war and anti-war opinions. The opinions of murderers and of mothers. And the opinion of the paper's own editors. If you weren't free to accept or reject OPINIONS you wouldn't be free at all.

The story of a fire is fact and opinion as a reporter saw it. Sermons are facts and opinions in favor of religion; advertisements are facts and opinions in favor of some product or service. Pictures of Yellowstone are facts and opinions in favor of vacations and travel.

Your job, as an intelligent citizen, is to recognize the facts, weigh the opinions, take the good and pass the bad by.

Here is a simple illustration of FACT and OPINION. It may help you to tell them apart. In your newspaper, which must, of course, give you BOTH.

THIS IS A CAT.
Cats are a FACT.
The paper didn't just imagine them—they EXIST.

Read, each Tuesday in this space, the messages about your liberty and how America's newspapers help you defend it. Your letters of comment will be appreciated by the editor and by this committee—Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

Keystone State Soldiers Observe State Holiday

Camp Shelby Soldiers From New Castle Have Thanksgiving On November 27
By JOHN BALL
(Special News Correspondent)
CAMP SHELBY, Miss. Nov. 27.—This year, the state of Mississippi officially celebrated Thanksgiving on November 20, and 50,000 inhabitants of the second largest metropolis, Camp Shelby, naturally are turkey.
The commonwealth of Pennsylvania observed Thanksgiving today and the soldiers of the 190th Field Artillery from the "Keystone state" had a double turkey treat—in the field.
This Pennsylvania "big gun" regiment is on a three-day tactical firing maneuver, but the inconvenience of being in the field did not prevent the artillerymen from keeping the tradition in pure Pennsylvania Thanksgiving fashion.
At the field headquarters of Colonel Samuel B. Wolfe (Lewisburg) commanding officer of the 190th Field Artillery, a tempting menu was served with all the delicacies that the palate could desire.
The "bivouac buffet" was given by Major John H. P. Bittner (State College), commander of the first battalion, who supplied the victuals, principally turkey.
The field dinner was attended by the regimental staff, including the chaplain, Major Stanley V. Wilcox (Chester).
Early this evening an order went out from the artillery commander's headquarters, which stated in part that the two large meaty drumsticks left over from the dinner would be held in reserve for the colonel and chaplain at breakfast.

Becomes Historic
Location

(International News Service)
CARLISLE, Ind., Dec. 2.—Two miles southeast of this little town of 852 residents is a pasture which has become an historic site.

For scientists in Washington have decided that the pasture, owned by Owen Collins is the center of population for the entire United States. The pasture has been owned by the Collins family for more than 100 years.

Business men of Carlisle already are planning to erect some kind of marker on the notable spot, where a mule now grazes unaware of its importance.

Linton citizens built a marker near their city when it was the population center from 1930 to 1940. The shift to the new center was 13 miles west and 7.9 miles south.

This is the fourth consecutive time that one Indiana congressional district—the Seventh—has been the center of population.

Six states have been the center of population—namely Maryland twice; Virginia, once; West Virginia, four times; Ohio, twice; Kentucky, once, and Indiana, six times.

State Farm Show
Set For JanuaryExpect More Than Half Mil-

Annual Show

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 2.—Attendance at the 1942 state farm show, to be held in Harrisburg January 19 to 23, should surpass the 1941 turnout when nearly 500,000 visitors passed through the turnstiles, Secretary of Agriculture John H. Light predicted.

As evidence of the mounting interest, a large number of exhibition spaces already have been contracted for by commercial exhibitors who will display machinery and equipment designed to lessen burdens on the farm and in the farm house.

The show commission, of which Light is chairman, announced that December 4 and 5 are closing dates for livestock and poultry entries, respectively. Entries in all departments excepting poultry are limited to residents of Pennsylvania.

Premium lists have been mailed but it was suggested that any person omitted from the list and interested in exhibiting can obtain information and entry blanks from his county agricultural extension agent or by writing to the farm show commission at Harrisburg.

A total of 8,506 cash awards amounting to $42,558 is offered exhibitors, with the premium money divided as follows: Horses, $3,450; horse and mule pulling contest, $500; sheep $3,038; swine $2,430; beef cattle $5,270; dairy cattle $10,155; milk $202; corn $753; small grains $201; potatoes $554; 4-H club corn and potato judging contests $216; cigar leaf tobacco $212; apples $1,853; edible nuts $65; vegetables $589.50; maple products $185; dairy products $561.50; wool $190; eggs $480; baby chicks $126; dressed turkeys $48; poultry $8,327; home economics $1,877; sports $65; state vocational demonstration contests $600, and state contest of vocational school exhibits $590.

From City Hall

Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen vet has almost two cases of dynamite and a box of dynamite caps which were found cached by Patrolman Herman Richards on the steel mill site. The dynamite, believed stolen and cached by youths, was used by a contractor in excavating on the site.

According to reports the men who stole the safe from the Relief office in South Mill street, staged the job at 2 a. m. Sunday because a dog kept at a coal yard nearby raised a big commotion about that time. It is believed the thieves may have been those who are traveling in this section robbing relief office safes of food stamps.

Traffic Policeman Michael Fazio is going to have some deer filets. He traveled into Warren county and brought down a nice "buck" which is being carved up and which no doubt will grace the tables of some of his friends.

Theme Takes On
Brand New SlantMassachusetts Girls Wear Bows
To Let Boys Know They're Susceptible

(International News Service)
SPRINGFIELD, Mass.—That old familiar theme—boy meets girl—has certainly improved since dad and granddads were boys.

In grandpa's day the code of moral ethics necessitated a formal introduction to the shy maiden before she would venture forth on a Sunday picnic—or what have you. Now, something new has been added which threatens to revolutionize the theme which has launched thousands of motion picture scenarios.

The bow. Yes, the bow that girls wear atop their heads.

The vogue started at Technical high school where boys appeared to have trouble dating the shy but attractive fair sex.

The school paper, seeking to eliminate this trouble, printed an article under a headline, "Girl's Bow Tells If Boys Can Try for a Date." It read:

"If you see a girl in the Tech corridors who is wearing her bow on the top of her head, and you feel like a date, it's your privilege to try for one because she is open for dates."

"But if you should notice that her bow is on the left side of her head, keep hands off! She goes steady."

"If the bow is on the back, be careful. This one's a man-hater."

"And if the bow is on the right side, you can take a chance—she's neutral, doesn't go steady and isn't a man-hater."

Demand For ProbeAsks Investigation Of "National Democratic Press"
In Defense Efforts

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Rep. Jones (R) Ohio, Monday in a speech in the house called for an investigation of the National Democratic Press and its managing editor, Jay Gladwin, whom he charged with "racketeering on national defense."

Declaring that the publication's "technique would make Al Capone blush with envy," Jones charged that advertising was solicited from manufacturers who had obtained government defense contracts.

Jones contended that the publication "is skyrocketing to fame with the defense program" and "it's advertising may be characterized from beer to battleships."

Jones asserted that "curiously enough, when a company gets a government contract to supply the arsenal of democracy, they will probably get a form letter" from Gladwin.

The "form letter," made public by Jones, said in part, "It has been suggested here that we communicate with you in reference to the special 'unity for defense' number we are now preparing to further our campaign for national unity in the interest of all out defense."

Jones added that enclosed with the letter "is the contract to expand the financial and political influence of Jay Gladwin or the Democratic National Press."

Jones said that "if the defense contractor doesn't respond to the letter and the contract, Mr. Gladwin's office calls long distance and talks to the arsenal of democracy supplier with that familiar 'you better pay for protection' approach still leaving the inference of the capital 'B' in his Democratic National Press."

"If an unwilling defense contractor would want to know if Mr. Gladwin espouses the cause of the Democratic party rather than the democratic way of life he couldn't get much evidence of promoting the way of life, but he could find ample evidence of Mr. Gladwin's ambition to become the party organ," Jones said. "You may say you know he isn't connected with the party, but the point is—how much money can Gladwin suck from the arsenal contractors without their knowing he isn't the party's publicity man."

Note on bureaucrats: While E. S. Smith was on the National Labor Relations Board he vowed he didn't favor C. I. O. Now C. I. O. has hired him to organize oil workers.

Minorities usually see enmity in any printed reference to them because they are looking for it.

FALSE ALARM

(International News Service)

HOUSTON, Tex.—The woman alighted from a truck, skipped up to the red box on the utility pole and deposited two post cards. That's right—the red box was for sounding a fire alarm which is just what happened. Seven fire trucks, sirens screaming, roared up and prepared for action. District Chief R. L. Mike looked in the alarm box and withdrew the cards—value two cents. It cost the city $50 to answer the alarm.

Home-Mixed Syrup Relieves Coughs Quickly

Saves Big Dollars.
So Easy! No Cooking.

The surprise of your life is waiting for you, in your own kitchen, when it comes to the relief of coughs due to colds. In just a moment, you can mix a cough syrup that gives you about 4 times as much for your money, and is amazing for quick results. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup, and you have a full pint of really wonderful cough medicine. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and children love it. This home mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing. You'll say it's astounding in its action. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Nervousness often disappears when scientifically correct lenses are fitted—for eye strain is nerve strain.

Many Farmers Must Move To Make Way For T. N. T. Plant Near Meadville

MEADVILLE, Pa., Dec. 2.—Uncle Sam's new 10-million-dollar TNT plant, soon to be erected near here, is being received as a mixed blessing.

On one hand there is "boom-town" excitement in the quiet Crawford County communities of Geneva and Conneaut Lake, anticipating a business and employment rush unprecedented in their histories.

Chambers of Commerce are building street lighting projects are being planned, new theaters, bowling alleys and recreational centers are in the wind.

On the other hand, there is grief and reluctance among almost 200 farm families which will be replaced in a 25-square-mile tract needed for the projected Keystone Ordnance Works.

Face High Land Costs

Forced to leave homesteads and farms they have occupied for generations, they must seek new land at a time of rising prices and values. In addition they face the problem of transporting livestock, feed and equipment. Hasty sale of these things might flood the market and yield only meager returns.

"Rising land values are the dread of everyone looking for another farm," commented James F. Gehr, Farm Security supervisor with headquarters in Meadville.

"Practically every farmer can tell of at least one instance where a farm that was for sale a few months ago for $3000 or $4000 has now jumped to $4000 or $5000 and sometimes even higher.

Many To Get Work

On the brighter side, residents of this area pointed to jobs for as many as 10,000 men during construction of the TNT plant and steady employment for probably 2000 workers needed to operate the factory.

Most of these employees will be drawn from this vicinity, which has suffered badly from dislocations brought by the defense program.

Virtually all of the area needed for the project, comprising some 15,000 acres, has been appraised and now is under option, according to Calvin Schofield, project manager for the War Department. About 50 options have been taken, he reported.

The tract, located in Greenwood Twp., lies about one and a quarter miles southwest of Geneva and runs to the Crawford County line. The plant will be about eight miles from Meadville.

The Erie Railroad, running through Geneva to the northeast, is surveying the property preparatory to running in a line to provide the ordinance plant with transportation facilities.

GRAND JURY MEETS

December term of criminal court opened this morning with the session of the grand jury. Eighteen cases are to be considered by the jury and of these, the true bills found will be tried beginning Monday morning, December 7.

Judge Charles H. Matthews, Jr., charged the grand jury in the work it was taking up, reminding them of the importance of impartial consideration of each case.

William Ifft, clerk of Ellwood City, was named foreman of the jury.

A few of the 24 jurors summoned were excused from duty. Those excused were Harry Davis, salesman, Sixth ward; Frank Doyle, machinist, Fourth ward; Hazel Hardy, housekeeper, Big Beaver township; Enoch S. Hill, retired; Harriet Sweesy, housekeeper, Sixth ward;

Bessie Ormson, housekeeper, Second ward.

It is likely some of the cases being considered will be settled by pleas being entered. The outlook for the term of court starting next Monday seems to indicate that the week will suffice to clear the calendar.

DIVORCE COURT

Divorce court will be held on Friday, December 5, with both Judge W. Walter Braham and Charles Matthews, Jr., hearing the cases. Twenty-two divorce applications will be heard.

DEER HUNTERS ANXIOUS

There's a feeling of unrest about the court house this week. Deer season is in and most of the departmental heads have visions of bringing down a ten point buck. A number of officers will take a day or two in the woods. The number of deer shot will not square with the number of chaps going up.

Relatives Give Aid To Families Still On Relief

Assistance From Kin Helping To Reduce Cost Of Public
Assistance In State

HARRISBURG, Dec. 2.—The relievers' relatives are taking over a large part of the state's public assistance burden—thanks to the defense boom.

Through increased wages and better jobs, relatives who two years ago were barely able to support themselves now are contributing toward keeping their kin still dependent on public funds supplied with food, clothing and shelter.

Their contributions, a public assistance department official said today, enabled removal of 34,000 cases from the rolls in the last year and lowered weekly dole grants paid thousands of other families.

Since most of the employables on relief got jobs during the slump which cuts rolls from an all-time high of 274,000 cases two years ago to an all-time low of 74,000 cases at present, leaving only 30,000 employables, much of any future saving must come from increased assumption of support by capable relatives, the official pointed out.

Indicative of the savings already made possible by such contributions is the cut made since 1939 in the average monthly grant. Two years ago, the average relief case received $30.20 a month. Today it receives $25.70.

The cut was attributed to support by relatives, income earned at odd jobs and removal of large families from the rolls.

Relatives' contributions played an important part also in reversing the trend of two of the department's secondary assistance programs, old-age assistance and aid-to-dependent-children.

The rolls stopped growing last May for the first time in months. It is expected that nearly 3,000 cases will be dropped from them during the next year, virtually all of them to be taken over by relatives. Many more will receive partial aid from family members, cutting the state's cost.

This decision follows in the wake of similar action taken by numerous political divisions where the posting of signs had been dropped several months ago.

Citizens approving the use of signs, according to Paxton, outnumber by far those who disapprove their use. Health officials and physicians, it is reported, favor the return to posting of signs.

Record Traffic Seen By Railroad

Huge Number Of Soldiers Will Augment Passenger Traffic Over Holidays

With half the Army furloughed for home visits, and the prospect that general travel will far over-top any marks of recent years, the Pennsylvania Railroad is preparing to handle much the heaviest year-end holiday movement of passengers over its lines in more than a decade.

Through the Washington gateway alone, over 100,000 soldiers will travel from Southern training camps to homes in the Middle Atlantic states and New England, and the numbers will be swollen at the New York gateway by men released from rearrangements north of Washington.
In addition, many thousands of uniformed men will move from the South to Midwest points, through Cincinnati and Louisville and from Western camps through Chicago and St. Louis to the East. All told the soldier movement will require the operation on the Pennsylvania Railroad of 300 or more extra trains.

Special Arrangements Civilian travel, which has been increasing with record-breaking swiftness in recent months, will be powerfully stimulated throughout the holiday period by the great increases which have taken place in employment and the larger amount of money in circulation. In addition, numbers of men and women are working in defense industries at points distant from their homes and many of them will make brief return visits over Christmas or New Year, or both.

Through careful planning, together with the closest and most helpful cooperation of the War Department, of connecting rail line and of the Association of Railroads arrangements have been set get the soldiers to their homes and back, safely and comfortably and with the least possible interference with civilian travel.

To accomplish these results, the soldiers who will travel over the lines of the Pennsylvania have been divided into three general groups.
Those of the first group will leave their Southern training camps or December 12 and 13; those in the second group, on December 14, 15 and 16; and those in the third group, on December 27, 28 and 29.
Members of the first and second groups will start the return journeys from their homes over the six-day period from December 26 to 30, inclusive; and those of the third group, on January 10 and 11. By so staggering and timing the movements of the three groups, the great majority of the soldiers will be traveling before or after the heaviest periods of civilian rush travel.

School Physician Urges Support Of Seal Sale Campaign

Dr. A. A. Newmark Tells Of Work Done In Schools By Tuberculosis Society

Dr. A. A. Newmark, medical director of New Castle public schools, urges the support of each and every person in the current drive of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society. Dr. Newmark tells in the following statement of the benefits provided from the Christmas Seal sale by school children:

"The work done by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society in co-operation with the medical department of the New Castle public school district is in itself of sufficient import to warrant the support of New Castle's citizenry in its annual drive for financial aid.

"The society's purpose in undertaking a task of such magnitude is twofold. It desires both to create an environment for our children that shall be free of the menace of contagious tuberculosis and at the same time to discover and treat the unsuspected individual child already infected and probably contagious to others. It therefore benefits both the well and the sick.

"The success of this plan involves large scale tuberculin testing, the use of X-ray diagnosis freely in all cases of suspects thus found, and the tracing of "positive" children and contacts to their origins in order to accomplish their elimination as sources of infection to other individuals. The entire cost of materials, of the use of the X-ray of follow-up, and of clinic or other necessary treatment is borne by the Tuberculosis society.

"The value of all this to our children and to their parents as well as to the community in general is obviously immeasurable in terms of monetary standards. Nevertheless this is but one of the many activities carried on by the society, the uninterrupted continuance of which depends directly upon the financial generosity of the members of the public.

"The means open to us to aid in the successful fight being waged against tuberculosis is a simple one: Buy and use Christmas Seals."

State Can Lease Forest Camp Sites

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 2—The department of forests and waters is authorized to lease small portions of state forest land to any citizen or organization for the erection of buildings for health and recreation.

Applicants for state forest permanent camp site leases have the privilege of selecting building plans from those available in the department, according to Milford Bratton, acting director, bureau of parks. If these plans do not meet the desire of the applicant, the department will accept for review and approval any other plans and specifications that the applicant desires to submit. Such plans should be prepared by a competent person and show at least three views of proposed building together with specifications and amount of material. Buildings must be completed within one year after the lease has been granted.

Only one building for dwelling purposes may be erected on a leased site and the maximum cost of the building is not to exceed $3,000.00. No building may be erected less than 250 feet from an improved highway or major forest road, and not less than 125 feet from a minor road or trail.

Permission may be given to develop springs and streams for water supply but the exclusive use of such water supply cannot be granted. No building may be erected closer than 50 feet to any spring or stream.

Applications for permanent camp site leases should be made to the department. A temporary camping permit entitles the holder to erect a tent and to make other necessary camp improvements which must be removed when the permit has expired. This type of permit is valid for three weeks and may be renewed.

British Youths Make Plans For Post-War World

Young People Are Agreed
There Will Be New And Better World

By FRANK COURTNEY
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

LONDON—"What should be included in the rebuilding of post-war Britain and the world?"

For the past few months newspapers over here have been putting that question before the public.

Dozens of articles have been written by thinkers and scientists, architects and idealists who have put to the man-in-the-street their ideas of what must be done in the forth-coming post-war era.

But what of the man-in-the-street?

And the fact is that it is not so much the man-in-the-street who is agitating and planning for a new world. Now, it is the youth-in-the-street.

Throughout the country the Youth of Britain, both male and female, is gathering together in small rooms and local halls to discuss and plan for the future.

So far, there has been no official recognition of these ever-growing meetings. But it is thought that before long something will have to be done to cater to this increasing demand of youth.

Their ideals are all-embracing and rather far off at the moment. But their aims are sincere and they believe in them.

And in the meanwhile, they are setting to it—each to his task while a civilian.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 2—According to word from the boys "28th Division will return to its camp at Indiantown Gap "in a few weeks." The return of the "Iron Division" will practically coincide with the retirement of its commander, Maj. Gen. Edward Martin, from active duty with the army. Martin has reached the maximum age of 62 for his grade and unless he accepts a desk job he will sever his connections with the army not later than March 1 under war department regulations.

Pennsylvania's state capitol no longer is open to sightseers after business hours and on Saturdays and Sundays. Signs reading "not open to the public" bar the way to all corridors and steps leaving from the main rotunda. . . the reason? It's not because of fears of sabotage.

Expectations at the state capitol are that the former head of Pennsylvania's National Guard will return to his post as adjutant-general of Pennsylvania, which he temporarily vacated last February. Brig.-Gen. Robert M. Vail is acting adjutant general in his absence but Governor James made it clear recently that Martin could automatically step back into the post whenever he desired. . . Martin may give some indication upon his retirement from the army whether he will be a Republican candidate for governor next year. . . If winning, he will be a strong possibility. . . He is a former state treasurer, auditor general and Republican state chairman, and is popular in party circles.

Rep. William E. Habbyschaw of Hummelstown, right-hand man to Robert E. Woodside Jr., Republican leader in the House, has been rewarded for his years of party service with the $3,000-a-year job of chief clerk to the Dauphin county commissioners. . . Habbyschaw dispensed patronage on capitol hill for Dauphin county Republicans. . . He is now serving his fifth term as assemblyman and according to reports will serve out his present term. . . Habbyschaw's chief in the House was elected a judge of the Dauphin county court at the Nov. 4 election, but it is not known yet whether Woodside will resign from the House.

WRITES LIVING COSTS IN JAPAN HAVE TREBLED

(International News Service)
WESTWOOD, Calif., Dec. 2—Japanese living costs have almost trebled since the outbreak of the "Chinese incident," but somehow the Japanese people "still manage to live pretty well and quite normally."

This report was mailed to the University of California at Los Angeles by Dr. Kazuo Kawai, assistant professor of history at U.C.L.A.

Dr. Kawai, who visited Japan last summer and was forced to remain because of the growing tension between Japan and the United States, wrote:

"Petty inconveniences have multiplied a thousandfold, but considering the fact that the war in China has been going on for more than four years the inconveniences are surprisingly minor in character."

"The cost of living here has just about trebled in the last four years, but there is no real hardship. I don't know how they do it but people still manage to live pretty well and quite normally."

WILLIAM E. TRICK HOME FROM HOSPITAL

William E. Trick has been returned to his home, 235 Fairmont avenue, from the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he has been undergoing treatment for a serious injury to his left hand, suffered on Thanksgiving Day.

Trick, who is a salesman for the Hanev Furniture Company, had the tips of the middle and third fingers of his left hand cut off by an electric planer, and not by a jigsaw as previously reported, which he was operating at his home to make Christmas decorations.

Jones Protests New Coal Law

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 2—The state's administration of the "short weight coal act," one of the most controversial laws passed by the 1941 legislature, was attacked today as causing hardships among coal dealers throughout Pennsylvania.

In a letter to Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livingston, Jr., Assemblyman Wesley N. Jones (D-Lawrence) said coal dealers in his district and elsewhere in the state were being "penalized" by new rules and regulations promulgated by the department.

They were being forced, he protested, to discard an average two years' supply of weight slips and purchase new forms prescribed by the department of internal affairs. The average loss to each coal dealer was approximately $100, Jones estimated.

Mrs. John King led devotions and Mrs. Robert Thompson was in charge of group singing.

Mrs. J. Ellis Bell, president of the Women's Association, explained the work of the organization after which a most interesting talk on "Our Church Program In America" was given by Mrs. Nelson Kennedy.

Ellwood To Begin Basketball Tonight

Locals Go To Zelenople For First Game Under New Coaching Staff

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 2.—Tonight at the Zelenople high school gym, the Ellwood City high school basketball team will make their first appearance of the season. The game begins at 8:15 with a preliminary contest opening the match at 7:15 o'clock.

With a new coaching combination at the helm, Ellwood fans are hopeful that the high school team will get back into the victory swim after a decade of luckless seasons. Thurman P. Croft and Howard B. Gills, who have guided football teams to victory for the past five years, have taken over the coaching job and if they are had as successful in basketball as they have been in football, Ellwood supporters are going to be highly pleased.

"They're not too bad" is the only admission that Croft will make about the team's prospect, which seems to mean that things don't look too hopeless. Most of the squad are football players, and Croft is devoting a good bit of time to adapting them to the gentler game of basketball, so that they will not suffer too many penalties from fouls. They have been drilling in both the man-to-man and zone defense plays.

Croft has two teams, which seem to be equal in his opinion, and both will be used tonight to find a winning combination. The one team, which will start, consists of Moskal and Vitovich, forwards; Clark, center; D'Biago, Sekulski, guards, and the other is composed of Tammario and Ottober, forwards; Dauben speck, center; and Dan and Greco and Lordo, guards. D'Biago, Sekulski and Tammario, who has only one semester to play, were regulars last year.

On Friday night, Ellwood will go to Kittanning for a preliminary game and they will come here for a return game on December 19. Negotiations are underway for a home game here next Tuesday night. Ellwood will also meet Sharon and Monaca in preliminary games and begin the sectional games at Beaver Falls on January 9.

Paul F. Luther Re-Named Head Of School Board

Dr. H. E. Helling Elected Vice President At Annual Organizational Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 2.—Paul F. Luther, Ewing Park, was re-elected president of the Ellwood City Board of Education at the annual re-organizational meeting held last night at the Lincoln office.

Dr. H. E. Helling was re-elected as vice-president being nominated by H. W. Smith. Mr. Luther was nominated by Dr. Helling. There were no other nominations. Frank Potter served as temporary chairman.

The only other business considered was the delinquent per capita tax situation. It was decided to force the National Tube company and other industries to deduct the delinquent tax from pay envelopes.

Under a recent law, companies are compelled to make the deduction. A number of the smaller industries have cooperated with the Board in making the deduction in past years.

A regular meeting of the board will be held on Thursday, December 11.

Study Plan For Seaplane Base In State Of Utah

Utah Governor Projects Plan To Form Fresh Water Lake

(International News Service)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—A plan to create a seaplane base in Utah by marking a fresh water bay out of a large area of the Great Salt Lake has been carried to Washington by Governor Herbert B. Maw and is now being considered as a national defense project.

The proposal—at least that part suggesting that a portion of the saline sea be converted into a fresh water lake—has come up from time to time within the past 30 years. It was recently revived and brought up to date in the interests of the defense program.

The project, as engineers see it, calls for construction of two and perhaps four dikes to enclose the Farmington Bay area and water pouring into the lake from the Jordan, Weber and Ogden Rivers—all fresh-water streams.

The enclosed area, totaling about 150 square miles, would control waters flowing into that part of the Great Salt Lake and would remain fresh.

After several hours of play, the top score for 500 went to Mrs. Ralph White and the bingo awards to Mrs. Edwin Curry and Mrs. Leslie Mortensen.

Britain Moves To End Abuses In Food Rationing Program

Ministry Of Food To Tighten Licensing System To Cover Up Loopholes

(By FRANK COURTNEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent)
LONDON.—A big scale campaign to end abuses of the rationing and food price control regulations was today being planned by the ministry of food.

Investigation has shown that the regulations are being circumvented on a large scale, that profiteering is rife, and that many people are being able to obtain far more than their allowances permit.

Major Gwilym Lloyd George, Parliamentary secretary to the ministry, is expected to announce the tightening up of the licensing system to cover up loopholes which have become apparent. Those chiefly affected by any new rules will be the wholesalers.

Special attention is to be paid to caterers of large hotels and restaurants who are able to obtain extensive quantities of unrationed food which the average householder seldom sees in the shops or markets.

Gypsies Chief Offenders

Amongst the biggest individual food offenders are members of the 12,000 gypsies who roam Britain. Thousands of them have found ways of dodging the ration orders. One food detective recently found that a gypsy family had been claiming rations in several towns at once.

Further inquiries disclosed that each member of the family had three travellers' ration books and were selling surplus food to strangers met on the road. Other gypsies also possess several identity cards in various tribal names and nicknames, making it easy for them to get extra ration books under each different name.

Loophole for them is that a gypsy is classed as a commercial traveller and need not register with any one trader.

"Extra" books and cards are now being confiscated by the police and new travellers' ration books are necessary each month.

British Return to Scene of Former Victory

The tide of war has again turned to the west in Northern Africa with British troops once again occupying the Libyan towns they were driven from after their lightning invasion under Gen. Wavell. This photo was taken as British Bren gun carriers rolled by shattered buildings in Fort Capuzzo, Italian strong point on the road to Bardia. (Central Press)

Japanese Threat to Thailand

This map shows how a Japanese invasion of Thailand would cut off the land routes connecting British India with the Malay Peninsula and Singapore. Thus, military observers see the Japanese threat aimed not only at the little Asiatic nation but also at the British Empire, making Britain and Russia divert supplies from the Eastern Front. In addition, the Japanese would be in position to stop materiel going to China by way of the Burma Road. (Central Press)

Averting Of Threatened Rail Strike Has Effect On Market

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The stock market rallied today under the lead of rails, responding to overnight news the threatened wage strike had been averted by a compromise settlement.

Gains generally were modest, but a few issues climbed 1 to as much as 3 points. Virtually all sections of the market participated in the upswing, which followed the recent slump to new lows for the year.

Union Pacific was the individual star, spurring 3 points at one time. Elsewhere in the group gains were limited to less than a point in most cases, although buying was active.

American Can ran up 2 points to 73. Allied Chemical and Union Carbide each were up more than a point in a firm chemical sector.

Gains of smaller proportions were registered by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, and others.

AXIS TROOPS IN JUNCTION NEAR TOBRUK

son with our forces inland has been temporarily broken.

"Tobruk therefore is once more cut off from contact with our land forces."

"It is presumed that operations are now taking place to restore the corridor. The main thrust appears to have been made by the 15th German armored division from the southwest in order to join up with remnants of the 21st armored division."

"The German junction was effected at Zafran, which is some six miles northeast of Sidi Rezegh."

Battle Yesterday

"Throughout the course of yesterday's battle the air force again closely supported our ground troops by continuous attacks on enemy armored fighting vehicles and mechanical transport, about and west of the Rezegh area."

"Many direct hits were observed."

A violent, confused battle was spreading over the desert as British armored legions drove the Germans and Italians steadily to the east and north, according to latest reports received in Cairo.

Simultaneously other imperial troops in the southern Libyan theater were reported advancing northwest from the captured Ghat oasis toward the gulf of Sidra (Sirte) behind an advance flying column that already has reached the coast of the gulf below Bengazi.

Gains of smaller proportions were registered by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, and others.

DR. A. B. FOSTER NAMED SCHOOL BOARD HEAD

year to $1000 per year. The motion failed of a second, and upon motion of A. C. Hyde the salary was pegged at the same level as it had been.

Mr. Shira then moved that the election of a solicitor be deferred for a time, and this was seconded by Mr. Preston. Upon a viva voce vote the motion was defeated.

Mr. Hyde nominated Attorney Charles H. Young as solicitor and this was seconded by Dr. W. Fulton Jackson. The election was unanimous.

S. Garvin Ligo was re-elected superintendent of buildings and grounds for a term of one year at a salary of $3000. The same meeting night, the second Wednesday after the first Monday of each month was named and the same order of business authorized.

Appointments Made

President Foster named the members of the athletic council over whom the board has appointive power. From the board Dr. W. D. Cleland, Dr. W. Fulton Jackson and Robert A. Preston were named.

From the alumni Carl Paisley, Attorney Joseph McFate and Don Thompson.

C. L. Shira was elected to Sinking Fund Committee to serve with the president and treasurer of the board. President Foster named Grif Thomas, Robert Preston and Leslie Brindle to the Budget Committee.

A letter of appreciation to Clyde M. Whitaker who retired from the board this year was signed by each of the board and ordered sent to Mr. Whitaker.

The organization meeting then adjourned and a short regular session gone into. Upon suggestion of Dr. Jackson, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds S. G. Ligo was authorized to go to Pittsburgh December 4-5-6 to attend a school conducted by the State Council of Defense in emergency measures.

The auxiliary of the Lawrence County Medical Society was granted the use of the senior high school auditorium for the night of January 5 for a health meeting.

John B. Bechtel, secretary and business manager was authorized to execute the proper applications and forms to exempt the board from the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation law and also to get the exemption granted school boards of excise sales taxes.

NEGOTIATIONS TO CONTINUE WITH U. S., SAYS JAPAN

tions without hope of reaching an agreement.

"We must wait and see."

An official announcement, meanwhile, said that in view of the "serious situation confronting the country," Hiroo Ino had been appointed minister of overseas affairs in the Tojo cabinet.

These new cabinet changes were regarded as intensifying Japan's efforts to be ready for any contingency the boiling crisis might produce if the negotiations in Washington break down.

Little Hope of Understanding

Washington, Dec. 2.—Having abandoned virtually all hope of reaching any understanding with Japan, the United States government is now discussing with the other members of the ABCD united front plans for concerted action to be taken if Nippon forces invade Thailand or attempt to cut the Burma road.

There is a growing belief in diplomatic quarters in Washington today that a Japanese move into Thailand is likely to result in a state of undeclared war between the western powers and the Nippon empire in the far east.

Great Britain is discussing with the United States the possible use of empire forces in British Malaya to check any Japanese attack on Thailand.

Plans also are being discussed for an Anglo-American aerial convoy system to protect the Burma road if Japan launches a serious aerial attack on that lifeline for American aid to China.

Details of this convoy system are being kept secret, but it is believed the convoying may be started by American aviators who were temporarily relieved from active duty with the U. S. army air force "to volunteer" for service in China.

Nearly 100 of these fliers are believed to be standing by in Chungking ready to patrol the Burma road in American-made fighting planes.

If Japan makes a serious attempt to cut the road, it is believed these American aviators will be re-enforced with additional "volunteers" from both American and British regular forces stationed in the far east.

The "even seas" is purely a figurative term denoting all the seas and oceans of the world, and no specific ones. The term was part of the vernacular of several nations long before some of the oceans were known to the inhabitants of Europe and Asia.

"Sporting one's oak" is a phrase originating in English universities and means to shut the door as a sign of being engaged.

The Moscow radio broadcaster added:

"Never shall the enemy enter Moscow. The rout of the Fascists at the approaches of our capital will become the beginning of a complete debacle for the enemy."

New Edict Dooms Japan's Panama Canal Spy Ring

Nipponese Spies Masquerading As Barbers Will No Longer Be Able To Operate

(International News Service)
PANAMA CITY, Republic Panama.—A crippling blow to Japan's Panama Canal spy ring has been struck by the Panamanian Government in its enforcement of the Republic's nationalization law.

Although this law was passed primarily to prohibit Asiatics from engaging in commercial enterprise in Panama, it now inadvertently deals a knockout blow to the hundreds of more Jap barbers who have comprised a local espionage group working at both entrances to the vital Panama Canal.

When the nationalization ruling became effective early this month the Nipponese Government lost no time in protesting to Panama, asserting the law showed discrimination against Japanese nationals and "inhuman cruelty" to Japanese merchants.
